

Surpassing Bold Conservation Goals

Fiscal Year 2024 Annual Report

From the Executive Director

In 2018, TLC set a goal to strategically and permanently protect and steward 25,000 acres of land across the Triangle by 2025. This meant we would have to double the pace of our conservation work. As of June 30, 2024, we surpassed our goal having conserved 25,195 acres! We accomplished this achievement along with many other goals from the plan early in 2024. And we haven't stopped conserving and caring for land.

Most notably, TLC finalized a historic land deed transfer of 177 acres to Urban Community AgriNomics. One of the region's largest transfers of property from a land trust to an African American-led nonprofit, it represents our first Good Ground Initiative project. Through this program, designed to conserve more local farms and increase land ownership opportunities for historically underserved institutions and individuals, the Good Ground Initiative has made it possible for TLC to conserve 227 acres of farm and forest land for historically underserved farmers and land seekers.

Along with private donations from our generous supporters, we are grateful to government agencies that continue to support conservation efforts including the NC Land and Water Fund (NCLWF), NC Agricultural Development and Farmland Preservation Trust Fund (NCADFP), all six of our counties, and the City of Raleigh. Grants from these organizations and others, make it possible for us to purchase land and protect it forever.

As North Carolina continues to grow in population, TLC will continue to provide the economic, ecological, and social benefits that our open spaces and natural lands deliver. TLC is proud to be part of the network of land trusts across the state working to conserve and protect land and make our communities more climate resilient.

I am especially grateful for your support of our hardworking staff who are deeply committed to protecting wildlife habitat, safeguarding clean water, supporting local farms, and connecting people to nature.

On behalf of all of us at TLC, I thank you for your support,

Sandy Sweitzer, Executive Director, Triangle Land Conservancy

Report on Year 6: Surpassing conservation goals

Progress on the 2025 Strategic Action Plan

Accelerating the Pace of Conservation: 25,000 acres by 2025

As of June 2024, we protected 25,195 acres throughout the Triangle:
1,544 acres were protected this year and 1,792 acres are in progress!

Thanks to you, Triangle Land Conservancy:

- Protected land valued at over $26 million, with $12 million coming from landowner donations and bargain sales and nearly $14 million coming from grants from local, state, and federal government.
- As part of our Good Ground Initiative: We transferred 177 acres at Catawba Trail Farm located in Durham to African-American led Urban Community AgriNomics (UCAN), a non-profit committed to engaging the community of northern Durham with skills based in agriculture and providing a place for those within the community to have access to fresh fruits and vegetables.
- Permanently protected 50 acres via conservation easement at Terry Road Farm in Orange County, a property with deep historical connections to Black and Native communities in the area. Both this property and Catawba Trail Farm are located within the Neuse River Watershed, Raleigh's drinking water supply.
- Permanently protected an additional 340 acres in the "Harricanes" area located near Falls Lake in northern Wake County. This area was identified as one of the highest priorities for protection in the original 2005 watershed plan. In total TLC has protected close to 700 contiguous acres in this area. This acquisition, which includes two adjacent tracts purchased in FY24, helps ensure critical water quality protection of the City of Raleigh's main drinking water supply. It was also the largest contiguous parcel of land remaining in the critical area of the Falls Lake Watershed.
- Protected 355 acres of natural areas identified by the NC Natural Heritage Program as having special biodiversity significance containing rare species or habitats.

By the Numbers

In FY24, you helped...

Conserve 720 acres to protect drinking water

Nearly 17 miles of stream were protected this year to safeguard drinking water for the Triangle, including 340 acres near Falls Lake, a source of drinking water for half a million people living in Raleigh and other municipalities in Wake County.

Conserve 355 acres to contain Natural Heritage Areas

North Carolina's Natural Heritage Program has identified more than 2,400 natural areas across the state with biodiversity significance due to rare species, unique natural communities, important animal assemblages, or other ecological features.

Transfer 270 acres of wild and working land

Completed the transfer of the 177-acre Catawba Trail Farm to Urban Community AgriNomics.

TLC also purchased 93 acres just south of Lake Benson, and immediately transferred them to the Town of Garner to be managed as a future public nature preserve. This property protects 4,500 feet of Swift Creek Aquatic Habitat, which is an exceptional Natural Heritage Area home to six rare freshwater mussel species.

Support local farms & working forests

TLC conserved almost 1,120 acres of working lands, including a mix of traditional row crops, produce production, and sustainably managed forests.

Support diversity in agriculture

Conserved and designated 227 acres of farm and forest land for transfer through our Good Ground Initiative (GGI) and grew the program through collaborations with partners and community members. Five members now serve on the GGI Committee, representing a variety of professions and expertise that support GGI's objectives.

TLC staff, the Delbridge family, Johnston County commissioners, and other state and county partner organizations celebrated the permanent protection of a 50-acre century farm in Johnston County (Photo by C. Lewis)

Monitor 18,214 acres

Staff and volunteers spent 451 hours (that is just over 56 full-time days, 11 work weeks or almost 3 months) monitoring 7,584 acres of property owned by TLC and 10,630 acres protected through 183 conservation easements.

Connect people to nature

Maintained 54 miles of trail at our public nature preserves, which thousands of people enjoy every month. Brumley and Williamson Preserves saw increased usage, averaging 50,000 and 40,000 visitors annually, respectively. TLC also continued to support acquisitions for our State Trails including the East Coast Greenway, Mountains-to-Sea Trail, Haw River State Trail, and Deep River State Trail.

Completed our third year of the Pathways into Natural Environments and Science (PINES) Fellowship welcoming 10 students from Knightdale High School to learn about and explore careers in the outdoors. To date, 16 students have participated in the PINES Fellowship. Of those, eleven students have graduated high school and gone on to pursue STEM studies and the remaining 5 plan to return next year.

Activate 2,841 volunteer hours

Managed 476 volunteers, including 51 trail guides, who helped lead 105 programs attended by 2,443 people.

As the number of easements held by TLC has increased, we continue to train volunteers to assist with monitoring. In FY24, volunteers contributed 196 hours to monitor 51 of 183 easements held by TLC.

You did this! With your support, we...

- ✓ Conserved 1,544 acres of land, including nearly 17 miles of stream, 1,120 acres of farmland/working forests and 355 acres that support Natural Heritage Areas.
- ✓ Engaged 2,443 people at 105 events.
- ✓ Managed 54 miles of trail across the Triangle.

FY24 Highlights

Since 1983, TLC has protected nearly 7,400 acres across 89 TLC-owned properties and 10,630 acres through 183 conservation easements. We also assisted state and local governments in permanently protecting an additional 7,156 acres across our region.

All of these properties support two or more of TLC's mission areas: protecting natural habitats, safeguarding clean water, supporting local farms, food and forests, and connecting people with nature. TLC is proud to be part of the network of land trusts across the state working to conserve and protect land and make our communities more climate resilient.

Protecting natural habitats

- Preserved and protected 355 acres of Natural Heritage Sites identified by the State of NC and almost 17 miles of stream.
- Permanently protected 93 acres of floodplain and wetlands along Swift Creek in Wake County, which contains 4,500 feet of the Swift Creek Aquatic Habitat Natural Area, and an additional 6,800 feet of tributary streams. Swift Creek is an exceptional natural heritage area home to six species of rare freshwater mussel, including the Federally Endangered Dwarf Wedgemussel and the Federally Threatened Atlantic Pigtoe. After protecting the property with a state-held conservation easement, TLC transferred it to the Town of Garner to manage as a future public nature preserve.
- Permanently conserved a 14-acre property in Wake County, which connects with 34-acres previously conserved by TLC. It features steep bluffs and floodplain that contain some of the highest quality natural habitats remaining in Wake County and includes portions of two significant Natural Areas identified by the North Carolina Natural Heritage Program: Middle Creek Bluffs Natural Heritage Area and Middle Creek Aquatic Habitat.
- Conducted 3 controlled burns. 17 acres were burned at Williamson to control woody species in the wildflower meadow and early successional habitat in main field south. Burning in the forest understory helped reduce surface leaf litter to encourage new growth. 85 acres were burned at Horton Grove and Brumley South to knock back invasive species, stimulate native plant regeneration, and reduce unwanted and/or hazardous fuels.

TLC staff demonstrated prescribed burn technique with volunteers from Leaf and Limb at Williamson Preserve.

- Worked with 266 volunteers who contributed time to Conservation Corps and TriWild to remove invasive species or remove invasive species including autumn olive, privet, tree of heaven, and multiflora rose across the Triangle.
- Worked with hundreds of volunteers to maintain, restore, and improve habitat on TLC properties by planting native plants, removing invasive species and debris, and conducting prescribed burns.

Safeguarding clean water

- Preserved and protected 17 miles of stream, bringing TLC's 41-year total to 187 miles of stream conserved. All of the recently 1,544 conserved acres help protect groundwater, drinking water, and limit impervious surface in our watershed.
- Permanently conserved 340 acres in the "Harricanes" area located near Falls Lake in northern Wake County. This acquisition helps ensure critical water quality protection for the City of Raleigh's main drinking water supply and includes the largest contiguous parcel of land remaining in the critical area of the Falls Lake Watershed.
- Conserved 177 acres in the Neuse River Watershed in Durham County in partnership with the National Guard, City of Raleigh, and Durham County.
- Received the donation of 30 acres of wetlands and hardwood forest on Buffalo Creek in Johnston County, that will help protect water quality and wildlife habitat.

Supporting local farms, food, and forests

- Advocated for new funding sources and partnerships for farmland preservation across our region including the dedication of county funds for farmland preservation in Wake, Johnston, Lee, and Chatham Counties. Funding from these new county programs generated over $5 million for farmland protection in our area this past year.
- Hosted more than 500 guests at community and farm-related events throughout the year at the Williamson Agricultural Pavilion. We look forward to increasing use of the space as we continue to make it available for local farmers, education, and to enhance the development of a local farming community. We also supported four different farming operations as part of the NextGen program at Williamson.
- Permanently protected twelve farms totaling 1,120 acres. This includes two in Wendell—the 125-acre Bailey Farm and the 108-acre Oaky Grove Farm—protected with funding from Wake County’s new Farmland Preservation Program. This innovative program allocates funds from rollback taxes to support the purchase of conservation easements on working lands. It also includes three farms in Johnston County protected with funding from the County —the 195-acre Neuse River Farm, the 98-acre Hatcher’s Bridge Tree Farm and 50-acre Stephenson Delbridge Farm.
- Received a donated easement on the 52-acre Staats Farm located within the Cape Fear Watershed in Orange County.
- Completed a historic deed transfer of 177 acres at Catawba Trail Farm located within Durham to African American-led Urban Community AgriNomics (UCAN), made possible via TLC’s Good Ground Initiative. Both properties are located within the Neuse River Watershed and were made possible via TLC’s Good Ground Initiative.
- Permanently protected 50 acres with a conservation easement at Terry Road Farm in Orange County, also located within the Neuse River Watershed.
- Protected a 37-acre farm in the Silk Hope region of Chatham County with a donated easement from local landowners and a grant from the Triangle Community Foundation. Located on the Upper Cape Fear watershed, the property includes a partially wooded pasture for rescued donkeys
- Continued our partnership with the Karen Community Farm at Oaky Grove in Eastern Wake County during year two of a three-year Refugee Agricultural Partnership Program Grant. This grant supports Karen refugees from Burma as they learn how to grow both local and traditional Asian crops in North Carolina.

Connecting people with nature

TLC maintained 54 miles of trail (28 for hiking and 26 multi-use) at our public nature preserves. We also acquired 33 acres of forest on the Neuse River which includes part of the Neuse River Trail greenway and is nearly adjacent to TLC’s Williamson Preserve.

We introduced two new events designed to connect people with nature:

- Learn & Burn in which TLC supporters were invited to safely observe a controlled burn of the wildflower meadow at Williamson Preserve.
- Moth Night celebrated Pollinator Week with Backyard Butterflies for an evening event at Brumley Nature Preserve featuring five collection stations where attendees submitted community science data to better understand moths and the environment.

Introduced PLACE (Partnerships for Land Access, Conservation & Equity), a 3-part workshop series designed to explore the responsibilities of buying and stewarding conserved land by those seeking it for agriculture, forestry, or other uses.

- 23 land seekers registered for the PLACE virtual workshops offered in 2024. Topics included: Conservation 101; Financial Health & Land Use Diversification; and Transition Planning. TLC also offered in-person hikes at our public preserves for PLACE participants along with opportunities for post-workshop engagement.
- In partnership with the Rural Advancement Foundation International (RAFI), the Croatan Institute, the Black Family Land Trust, and others, the PLACE workshops call attention to the impact of historic racial and economic discrimination on landowner populations in the United States. Completion of the series is required for anyone purchasing land through TLC’s Good Ground Initiative.

Pathways into Natural Environments and Science (PINES) Fellowship Program completed the third year welcoming 10 students from Knightdale High School to learn about and explore the career opportunities in the outdoors.

- To date, 16 students have participated in our PINES Fellowship; 11 students graduated from high school and pursued STEM studies. The remaining 5 plan to return next year.
- Two graduates joined TLC as summer stewardship interns and one graduate joined TLC as the PINES Assistant through an internship.

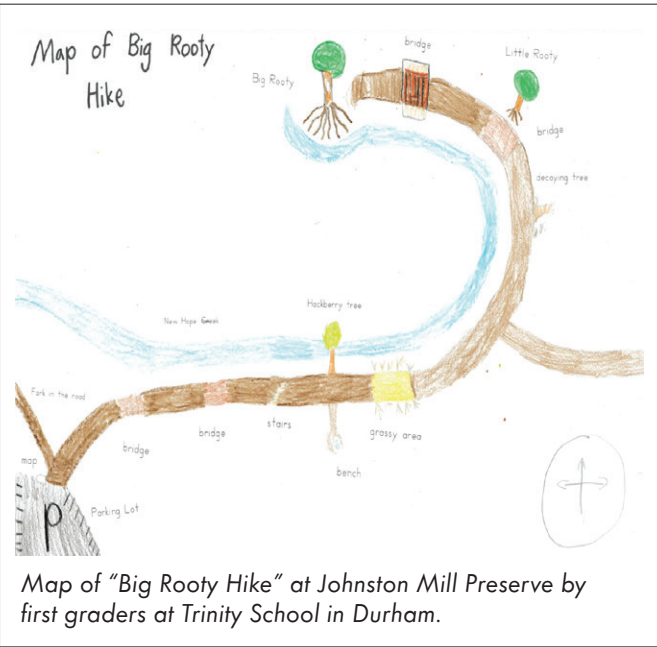

TLC hosted and participated in more than 105 events including our signature event series, Wild Ideas, which we offer each year to the Triangle community:

- Wild I.D.E.A.s Gets Outside took place at Brumley Nature Preserve in Chapel Hill in October 2023. This reimagined Wild I.D.E.A.s (Inclusion, Diversity, Equity, and Access) provided space for the community to experience nature hands-on, and to share the joy of the outdoors via a variety of activities that included guided hikes, birdwatching, plant identification walks, trekking pole instruction, and axe-throwing.
- By reaching out to local groups, such as BLK Hiking Club RDU, Feminist Bird Club, and NC Adapted Sports, we were able to introduce attendees to organizations working to create community, safe spaces, and opportunities for people of all backgrounds and abilities to enjoy the outdoors. With helping more people connect to nature in mind, we offered a bilingual Spanish-English hike, test riding adaptive handcycles, and fishing at Brumley's large pond. For several attendees, this was the first time they had ever fished, birdwatched, or even visited Brumley.
- More than 100 community members attended and 15 local outdoor organizations participated. We are especially grateful to our sponsors: Murphy's Naturals, Blue Heron Asset Management, Great Outdoor Provision Company, and Bank of America.

Additional events included:

- Fall field trip to Johnston Mill Nature Preserve for first-grade students at Trinity School in Durham.
- Rocky and Deep River Celebration with The Conservation Fund at Hugger Mugger Brewery in Sanford.

- Statewide Star Party with Raleigh Astronomy Club at Three Bears, one of TLC's private properties in north Wake County.
- Reunion with CORRAL Riding Academy celebrating their partnership with TLC through our NextGen Farming Program
- Celebration and school supply giveaway in partnership with Good Hope Baptist Church and Spiritual Learners at the Williamson Agricultural Pavilion. More than 100 community members attended.

Redistributing land to historically underserved institutions and individuals

"TLC gave us what we initially asked for, access to property to help build resilience among the residents of Durham County, and now they have granted us our ultimate wish, land ownership. On this glorious day we give honor to our ancestors who labored without choice on this land and to the many volunteers and supporters for investing and believing in the vision and mission of this small minority organization. As my loving mother would say, To God Be the Glory!"

Delphine Sellars,
Executive Director of UCAN

Preserving a family farm for the next generation

"I was born in the beautiful farmhouse my father built in 1923 with stone and timber from the land. We celebrated the centennial of the house just last year. My husband and I visited the farm often with our own three children and they grew up learning themselves to love the barn, fields, animals, pond, and woods. I am overjoyed to be able to protect this last piece of the farm so that it can bring joy and sustenance to future generations."

Lola Delbridge, Landowner

Protecting wild lands amidst a rapidly growing region

"If you were savvy enough, forward-thinking enough, you could set it apart because there will never be anything like it anywhere nearby, ever again. You could leave it as a place where the old roads will forever wind past the old ruins, and the calls of birds will never cease their chorus through the old woods. You could build nothing, and then it would be priceless."

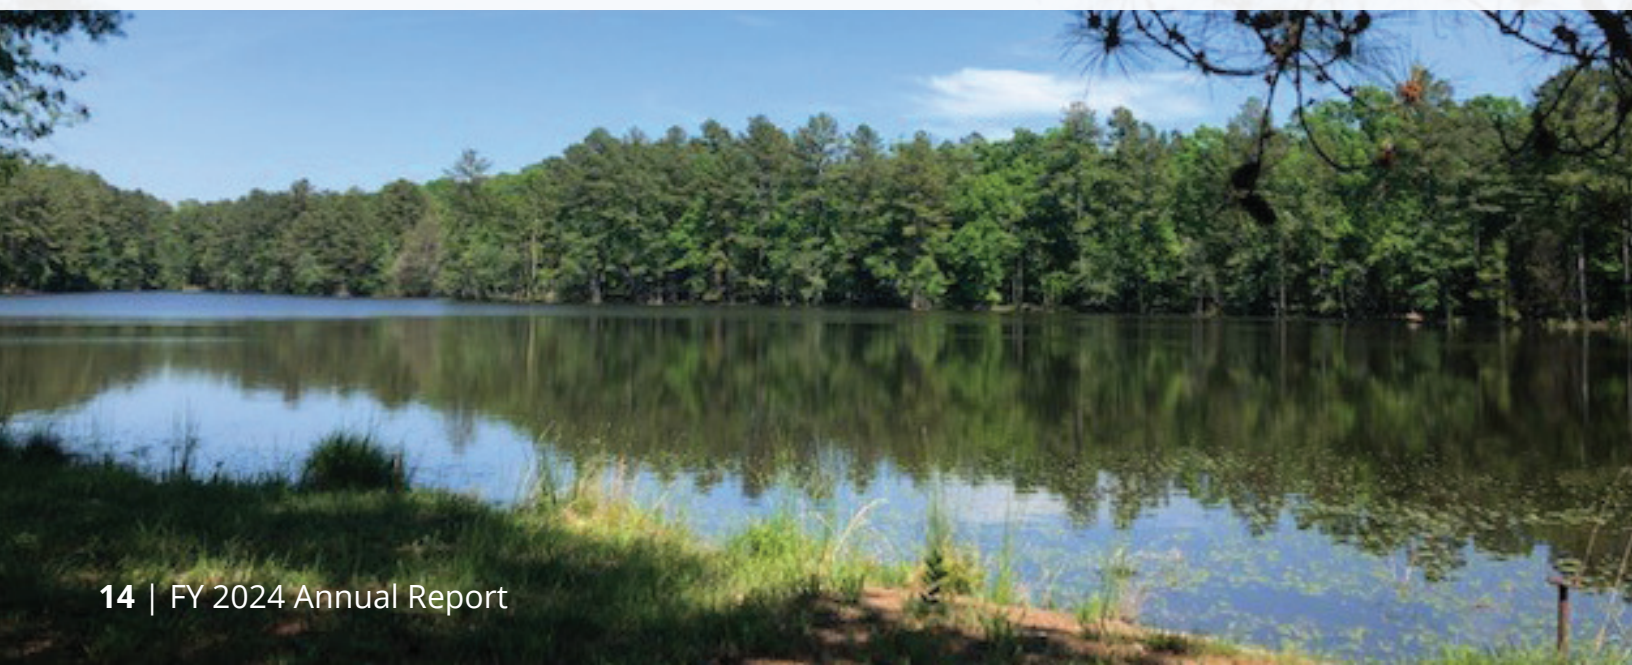

T. Edward Nickens, columnist for Our State magazine, on TLC's vision to protect water quality in Falls Lake and preserve habitat for wildlife to thrive.
